

Safety at work is everyone's right

S

START looking into the work health and safety laws that apply. Scan the QR code below to view a series of short videos to explain what that means and what workplaces need to do.

A

ACTION any changes to ensure you're fulfilling responsibilities to provide a safe workplace and protect the health and wellbeing of workers and others in the workplace.

A good place to start is our checklist—it's on the other side of this fact sheet.

F

FIX any hazards. For example, make sure exits, entrances and emergency evacuation spaces are well lit, obstruction-free and clearly marked.

E

EDUCATE workers on their rights and what they can do to protect their safety, health and welfare. The video series explains workers' rights and what they can do.

Scan our QR code to watch our video series on workplace health and safety

Queensland
Government

A responsible workplace checklist

Workplace health and safety laws apply to all workplaces in Queensland—and that includes yours. Here are some examples of responsible workplace practices. For more, scan the QR code below.

My workplace is managing health and safety risks

My workplace provides personal protective equipment (PPE)

My workplace provides safety information and training

At my workplace, workers are consulted about work health and safety issues

My workplace and equipment are safe

Exits, entrances and emergency evacuation spaces are well lit, safe and clear

The massage tables are at a suitable height for each worker

My workplace provides clean linen, changed and washed in a washing machine after each use

My workplace encourages safety and wellbeing

We can end a booking if we feel unsafe

We take regular breaks to prevent fatigue

We have a system for checking in and other safety procedures if working alone

My workplace makes sure safe practices occur

We have hygiene facilities and products for ourselves and our clients

We have access to a first aid kit

At my workplace, the choice to access peer education, vaccinations and testing is supported

Scan our QR code to watch our video series on workplace health and safety

Queensland
Government